Summary: I watched the promo for Hard Knox and then this happened. A short one shot about what I think happened in the trunk of the car before they got out.

In the Trunk

This is what happens when I look at Tumblr during my business class. Based on Happy, Toby, and Walter getting out of the trunk of the car in the Hard Knox promo. What I imagine would happen with all of them in the trunk.

"Walter get your foot out of my ear," Toby said.

"Toby there is nowhere else for me to put my foot given the size of this trunk and the 3 of us packed in here like sardines," Walter said.

"Will you two idiots shut up," Happy said. Happy was pretty much laying on top of Toby, who of course didn't mind having his girlfriend lay on him.

When Walter and Toby stopped their bickering it was dead quiet in the trunk and all that could be heard was the sound of the road and muffled radio sounds. Toby took advantage of their situation and started playing with the hem of Happy's fatigue. He soon slipped his hands under the layers of fabric, lightly touching her bare skin.

'Now is really not the time Toby,' Happy thought. Instead of vocalizing her annoyance Happy grabbed Toby by the wrists and pulled his hands off of her body. Toby sensing that she was annoyed and dropped his arms back to his sides. Suddenly the car hit an unexpected bump and Happy, having nothing to hold onto, was practically launched off Toby's chest. Her head made contact briefly with the trunk lid before coming back down and hitting the back of her head on Toby's shoulder.

"Okay ouch," Happy said.

"Are you alright?" Walter asked.

"Yeah I'm fine," she said. Happy was surprised that Toby had not asked her first, so she turned as best she could to see him. He was trying to catch his breath, having Happy's almost full weight, as light as she was, come down on his chest knocked the wind out of him.

"Hey numbnuts are you okay?" Happy asked slightly concerned.

"Ow my clavicle," was all that Toby could get out.

Happy smiled and chuckled a bit knowing that her boyfriend was fine. Not wanting to hit her head again in case of anymore bumps Happy grabbed Toby's wrists again and wrapped his arms around her waist. Together their combined weight would make sure that, if they did hit a bump, Happy wouldn't hurt herself or Toby again.

Soon enough the car stopped and the dull hum of the engine cut letting them know that it was time to focus on the job. Daylight poured into the trunk of the car when Cabe and Tim opened it causing all the geniuses to briefly shield their eyes from the sudden bright light. Getting Happy out of the trunk was easy given the fact that she is small and light, getting Toby and Walter out was a little more challenging. When getting Toby out of the trunk his foot scraped against Walter's ear.

"Really Toby, my ear?"
